

ALL NIGHT FIRE AT MOUNT VERNON KEPT CITY ASTIR

New York Sent Aid, Four Persons Hurt and Families Homeless.

(Special to The Evening World.)
MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Three firemen were injured, five families rendered homeless and $100,000 damage done to property by an all night blaze that caused a big scare in this city. It was not until well after dawn to-day that the flames were subdued in the planing mill and varnish factory of Hartman Brothers on West Lincoln avenue, where the fire started, and a row of dwellings on the opposite side of that thoroughfare.

Chief Angeline, of the Mount Vernon fire department, telephoned Chief Crozier, as he feared the whole of the southwestern section of the city bordering on the Hudson would be destroyed, and two steamers and several trucks were sent from the Williams-bridge department.

When the New York firemen arrived at the fire it was burning fiercely and threatening to wipe out several blocks south of the Hartman plant. It was decided to let the fire have its way with the plant and to direct all the streams to the houses surrounding it.

The home of William Mandrey, No. 42 West Lincoln avenue, caught fire. That was no sooner disposed of than the house occupied by Mrs. Eleanor Devere and Joseph Huber began to blaze up. When the firemen were wetting down the home of Dr. William Sharkey, at No. 123 Lincoln avenue, that of Samuel Raymond next to it became ignited, and the firemen had to work with might and main to keep them from being destroyed.

Nolia and Warnke's Hotel, in West Lincoln avenue, were the next to blaze, but they were saved from serious damage.

All the occupants were driven out in the freezing weather and compelled to seek shelter with neighbors.

Many of the Mount Vernon volunteer firemen are wealthy New York business men, and these worked hard all night with their clothing enmeshed in ice, to stay the spread of the flames.

Early this morning three of these were injured and had to be removed to the Mount Vernon Hospital. Fireman William Baker, of Protection Engine Company, fell from a roof and was badly cut about the head. Two other volunteers were burned by fire brands.

Mrs. Herman Sternhagen, who lived near the factory, in her haste to escape from her home, fell on the icy sidewalk and broke her right leg.

The electric light, telephone and telephone wires in the neighborhood were torn down and the service hampered.

Four horses of the Hartman Brothers were burned to death.

Instant Death Meets Worker on the New York Central—Passengers Scared.

George Delgrawano was working on the New York Central tracks in Park avenue just north of the Clearmont Park station when he saw north-bound electric train No. 5 approaching. He stepped from the south-bound to the north-bound tracks directly in front of the train and was hurled forty feet, being instantly killed.

The train came to such an abrupt stop that the passengers, still nervous from the recent wreck, were thrown from their seats and in a momentary panic. Coroner Schwannacke ordered the arrest of Foreman James Wolf and his assistant, Frank Zaczni, for criminal negligence. Delgrawano lived at No. 519 East One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street.

Nolia and Warnke's Hotel, in West Lincoln avenue, were the next to blaze, but they were saved from serious damage.

NEW YORK CITY MAN FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

Indorsements Are Coming Thick and Fast in Support of J. J. Morey.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, Feb. 28.—The candidacy of John J. Morey, of New York City, for Railroad Commissioner is being actively promoted by railway conductors and labor leaders. Secretary of State Whalen is also said to be backing Morey. The Order of Railway Conductors has endorsed Mr. Morey, as well as many prominent business men. The conductors say he is the best railroad man in New York.

A story was sent out from this city yesterday saying that Morey was opposed by the railroad conductors. There was absolutely no foundation for this statement.
